Word From Jussi Tähtinen, CEO

125% Revenue growth and expanded project portfolio

2021 was a good year for Nitro Games. We significantly grew our revenue, diversified and broaden our game portfolio while we invested heavily into our games to be launched in 2022. This gives us a good position to continue forward to 2022 with several exciting events on our roadmap.

The focus point of the year was expanding our project portfolio, and I'm happy about how we delivered what we were set out to do. We significantly increased the deal flow throughout the year, and parallel to that succeeded in starting the rollout of the new games from our portfolio towards the end of the year.

We secured a record order intake in our service business last year. This is a result of the expansion we did both in business development and in the scalable team structure we have that allows us to work on an increased number of projects. We succeeded both in gaining new customers with increasing order value as well as in signing follow-up orders with our existing customers. I'm happy to see the quality of our service increasing in value. This is part of our strategy, where we're seeking to decrease the volatility and risk by diversifying our B2B project portfolio. After the period, we signed with Supermassive Games for a new unannounced mobile game based on their IP with a record order value of approx. 2,8 million EUR.

We also gained material progress with our game portfolio as we started soft launches for our new games towards the end of the year. I am excited about our new games from different teams approaching the measurement and validation points one by one. We're operating in a very hit-driven industry and having several shots on goal is an essential part of our strategy. Our data-driven process helps us to identify and focus on the winners. We're positive about the reception our new games have received so far. Our first game with Snap and NERF: Battle Arena are currently in soft launch on selected markets, and Lootland is currently in the technical testing phase approaching the end of production. Moving forward, we have three more games with Snap progressing towards soft launch this year. Parallel to this, the increased activity in our early funnel has resulted in new games moving forward and we now have a new exciting unannounced mobile game in production.

Our progress is also visible in our financials where our revenues increased 125% year-on-year because of securing several new orders in our service business. Our efficient cost structure allowed us to keep our costs in control, resulting in EBITDA improving quarter by quarter throughout the year. Parallel to this, we retained our strong cash position which is important considering our roadmap of game releases in 2022 with planned investments in product marketing.

Our team is our most valuable asset. In 2021 we strengthened our team with several key hires and expanded our team through our global network of partner studios. This approach has given us a scalable structure and allowed us to successfully increase the number of projects we work on.

Overall, we are heading in the right direction, but are far from satisfied. Moving forward, we're focusing on materializing the potential with our game portfolio in 2022 and beyond. Parallel to this, we continue providing quality for our partners in our service business. The year ahead is filled with exciting events in our project portfolio. We are in a strong position to continue forward with our strategy and seeking to deliver shareholder value long-term.

This new improved version of Lootland is ready to progress to the technical testing phase with limited scale live audiences. The increased activity in the early game funnel has resulted in a new unannounced game successfully entering production towards a soft launch in 2022.

The company has also secured several notable sized orders from top companies in the industry throughout the year. The big unannounced project with Digital Extremes has progressed steadily, and the prototyping services project with the UK-based developer has progressed as planned. Parallel to these, the company has continued the cooperation with the US-based publisher and with Snap Inc. with follow up agreements from both customers. Moving forward, Nitro Games continues to be active in business development, where the company is seeking new opportunities for 2022 and beyond.
